HARRIS DRIVES IN TWO RUNS

Proved Enough to Win the Sixth Game of the Series.

ZACHARY HOLDS THE GIANTS

Nehf Also Twirls in Masterly Fashion Save in the Fifth Inning, When He Issues a Pass and Allows Two Hits. Giants Outwit Washington but Their Bingles Are Scattered—Two Players Injured.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Washington evened up the series yesterday by defeating the New York Giants in a close and exciting contest.

Thirty-four thousand fans, including President Coolidge, witnessed the struggle, which was a pitchers' battle from start to finish. Art Nehf and Tom Zachary, both southpaws, occupying the mound.

New York's lone run came in the first inning. Frisch doubled, but was run down when Zachary took Young's grounder. Young went to second on the play and scored on Kelly's single. The fifth inning was the eventful one for the Senators, who put over two runs, driven home by Manager Harris. Peck opened with a single and Ruel sacrificed. Zachary went out and Peck hobbled to third. McNeely walked and stole second. Harris took two balls and then delivered. It was a stinging single to right. The throw to the plate was late, Peck and McNeely scoring.

Two Washington players were injured in the ninth inning, when they aided in checking a Giant rally. Peck-Inpaugh, veteran shortstop, whose return to the game for the first time since Monday, had plugged the hole in the Senators' inner defense, aggravated a leg injury in fielding Meusel's hot smash over second base. He made the stop and throw to Harris that forced Kelly and checked the Giant rally, but Joe Judge was hit in the groin by Harris' low throw and fell to the ground in pain. Peck continued limping and finally had to be half-carried from the field, but Judge recovered sufficiently to continue the game, and Taylor, substitute infielder, who himself is just recovering from an injury to his throwing hand, which was swathed in bandages, went to third base to finish the game for Bluege, who moved over to Peck's place at short.

Stone Says He Will Probe Charges Against Aluminum Company.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The department of justice is prepared to investigate charges made by the federal trade commission concerning alleged monopolistic tendencies of the Aluminum Company of America, but will take no action until the commission submits a copy of the report, Attorney General Stone said. The report of the commission answered a senate resolution, but Stone said he had informed the commission when he took office that he desired the commission to give him any evidence of federal violations and he assumed therefore that it would be done in this case.

LA FOLLETTE IN WEST

Says Fight For New Alignment In Politics Will Be Successful.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Senator La Follette begins his tour of the west today at Detroit. He ended the eastern invasion at Newark, N. J., where he expressed confidence that the fight for a new alignment in American politics will be a success, and predicted that "either the Republican or the Democratic party will cease to exist for the next four years." The progressive party, as he described it, was born as a revolt against the "two cynical, mocking, arrogant masks of the idealism of Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln." Asserting that the control of the government had fallen into a few hands, La Follette challenged President Coolidge to refute the charge that "those now in control of the government at Washington do not represent the people, but those who exploit the people."

ESTIMATES MADE BY FEDERAL EXPERTS

Wheat, Corn and Rye Production in United States.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The department of agriculture estimates that wheat production in the United States this year will total 856,000,000 bushels, against 786,000,000 bushels last year.

The estimate represents an increase of 19,000,000 bushels over the production of 837,000,000 bushels estimated a month ago on the basis of the crop's condition of Sept. 1.

Total corn production was estimated at 2,459,000,000 bushels, against 3,046,000,000 bushels last year.

Winter wheat will account for 589,000,000 bushels of this year's total, while spring wheat will comprise the remainder of 266,000,000 bushels, according to the department's estimates. Other estimates of this year's crop production included oats 1,509,000,000 bushels, barley 201,000,000 bushels, rye 65,800,000 bushels and sugar beets 7,430,000 tons.

Farm price of wheat as of Sept. 15 was given by the department as $1.142, compared to 91 cents on Sept. 15 last year; corn $1.037 against $0.820 cents last year; oats 47.1 cents against 38 cents; barley 75.6 cents against 51.9 cents, and rye 80.1 cents against 57.2 cents.

NAMES WHEELER AND BROOKHART

Fink Alleges Senate Probers Made Pledges.

AFFIDAVIT READ AT MEETING

Alleges That Fink and His Attorney Were Promised Federal Positions to Testify Against Daugherty. Roxie Stinson Also Alleged to Have Received Promise of Assistance. Investigation Sought.

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Daniel F. Steck, Democratic candidate for United States senator, read an alleged affidavit by A. L. Fink of Buffalo in a speech here last night.

The affidavit purports to describe how Senator Burton K. Wheeler induced Roxie Stinson to testify against former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

In his speech Steck charged that his Republican opponent, Senator Smith W. Brookhart, assisted in obtaining Fink's services to induce Miss Stinson to testify. He said he has started petitions to Attorney General Stone requesting an investigation of the Daugherty investigation committee.

According to Steck, the affidavit said that Fink, in return for assistance in the senate investigation, was promised the office of internal revenue collector in Buffalo and that his attorney, Henry Stern of Buffalo, was promised a federal judgeship in New York. The affidavit said these promises were made by Senator Wheeler. It asserted that Wheeler promised Miss Stinson opportunity for personal gain on the New York stock market if she would testify.

Steck quoted Fink as saying he went to Cleveland Feb. 18, last, on business. From newspapers he learned that Roxie Stinson, a friend of 12 years ago, had fallen heir to a considerable amount of money. In need of additional funds for his business, he requested Miss Stinson to meet him. They went to a hotel to discuss his affairs, but Miss Stinson interrupted, the affidavit said, with the statement: "I have a far bigger deal on right now and you ought to come in on it."

"I asked her what it was," Steck read from the affidavit, "and she told me that she was being defrauded out of her just portion of Jesse Smith's estate by Harry M. Daugherty, because he refused to recognize her or allow Smith to have her in Washington all the time they were in office, and that she was prepared, if necessary, to invent stories that would incriminate Daugherty to such an extent that he would be forced to resign from office; also that she expected to sell her story for $150,000, which she felt she was entitled to. She asked me if I would get some strong Democrat to purchase the story she concocted."

According to the affidavit, Fink "realized that the women knew nothing positive, but was depending purely upon hearsay and gossip." He left her, he said, and laid the matter before Samuel Ungerleider, a Cleveland broker. He and Ungerleider called on Miss Stinson. Ungerleider told her that she had no "possible proof of guilt of Harry M. Daugherty," and warned her that if she persisted in her plan he would "have her locked up for malicious slander of a government official."

LABOR PARTY MAY HOLD ITS OWN

Conservatives to Make Gains in English Elections.

POLITICAL OBSERVERS' VIEWS

Liberals Expected to Lose at the General Election, Which Will Be Held Oct. 29—Fate of Europe in the Balance, Prime Minister MacDonald Indicates—King Consents to Dissolution of Parliament.

London, Oct. 10.—The British general election will be held Oct. 29, Prime Minister MacDonald announced.

"We will take this case to the people and they will sustain us," MacDonald said, referring to the defeat of the government when the house adopted the Liberal amendment to a vote of censure.

The prime minister spent the day in conference with his political advisers. MacDonald indicated in his speech in the house of commons later that the fate of Europe may hang in the balance, as the program of the labor government is inseparably bound to that of solution of the reparations and other post-war problems. The king has consented to dissolution of parliament, the prime minister announced.

The labor government's defeat came on a Liberal proposal that a committee be appointed to investigate the dropping of proceedings against a Communist editor, who had been charged with sedition.

The labor cabinet, the first to hold office in England, is not expected to resign until the nation has stated its judgment at the polls, and then only if the vote is against the party. The adverse vote Wednesday was the thirteenth defeat incurred by the Laborites in their nine months of office.

Political observers generally believe the Conservatives will make gains in the election, the Laborites holding their own and the Liberals losing. The present lineup is: Conservatives 257, Laborites 193 and Liberals 158. The labor party has been in power through the support of the Liberals. It is almost certain that the Conservatives will remain the strongest party numerically, and it is likely that ex-Premier Baldwin will be returned to the head of the next cabinet.

The house of lords adopted the Irish boundary bill without amendment. So far as the elections are concerned, therefore, Ireland is out of the picture. There is, in fact, no great question to place before the electors.

Parliament was dissolved last night by the king's proclamation.

KEARNS FILES REPORT

Notes Decrease in Construction of Public Buildings in Ohio.

Columbus, Oct. 10.—The September report of Thomas P. Kearns, chief of the workshops and factories division of the state department of industrial relations, shows that construction of public buildings is on the decrease. Sets of plans, numbering 73 were approved and six rejected during the month, a decided decrease in both cases as compared to the report of August, Kearns said. Preliminary plans submitted numbered 54, also fewer than the month preceding it. In approved plans, however, there were 16 new schools, five churches and one theater.

Greater activity by the deputies was reported. Inspection tours numbered 2,671 for September, as compared with 2,358 in August. Orders issued for the improvement of safety and sanitary conditions for the month totaled 704 against 528 for the previous month. In nine school buildings inspected it was necessary to order the structures placed within the requirements of law, and 11 of 15 public halls and three of five theaters inspected, also must be improved. No prosecutions were reported for the month.

Neal to Attend.

Columbus, Oct. 10.—Harry E. Neal, chief traffic engineer of the state highway department, will leave next week for Washington to take part in a national conference of engineers summoned by Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, to discuss standardization of highway signs and colors. Neal also will take up with officials details of a new program for state traffic and transport service investigation, proposed recently by the government. Ohio engineers will begin the investigation in this state in November in co-operation with United States officials.

NEW STEP IN MARKETING

Motor Truck and Concentrating Yards Used by Co-operatives.

Columbus, Oct. 10.—According to the live stock marketing department of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, the use of motor truck and concentrating yards in handling shipments is the latest step taken by co-operative live stock groups of Ohio to improve marketing of the product of their members. In Van Wert, Fayette and Darke counties live stock co-operatives have started handling a large portion of their business this way. At present steps are being taken to inaugurate either trucking or concentrating service or both in Paulding, Allen, Hardin, Shelby, Clinton, Ross, Knox, Stark and Carroll counties.

The use of yards at which live stock may be gathered before shipment offers a number of advantages to the producer, according to J. R. Allgayer of the federation. It gives greater opportunity for sorting live stock, so that uniform stock may move directly to packers without going to terminal markets, thus increasing returns to the producer. On those shipments that go to the terminal the concentration point brings savings in shrinkage, losses and marketing expenses, since it allows frequent shipment, and loading in double deck cars, which move with less cost along these lines, he says.

Negro Slain by Mob.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—A mob in the Jewish quarter killed William Bell, 33, a negro, who was accused of accosting two young women in the street. Police are holding Otto Epstein, who is alleged to have struck Bell with a baseball bat.

UP TO BAN JOHNSON

Stone Will Probe Baseball Scandal If Given the Facts.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Attorney General Stone said the department of justice will investigate the recent baseball scandal if Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who announced he was seeking such an investigation, presents adequate facts to the department. "If Ban Johnson wants the alleged baseball corruption investigated he will have to present the facts to the department of justice," said Stone. "Bribery does not constitute a prima facie federal violation, although some of the details of this particular case might place it within federal jurisdiction."

Commissioner Landis announced here that the Giants' share of the world series receipts would not be held up. "Why should it?" he asked.

Embezzlement Alleged.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Charles B. Lukens and A. C. Hamill, respectively former and present assistant cashiers of the Parkersburg (Pa.) National bank, which closed its doors last Monday were arrested here on warrants charging embezzlement. Arraigned before Federal Commissioner they both furnished heavy bonds and were being fixed at $25,000 each.

TREASURER DAY HANDLES HUGE SUM EACH YEAR

Republican Candidate For Treasurer of State guards $150,000,000 of Public Funds without Loss.

By Frank H. Ward.

When a man handles $150,000,000 a year of public funds without the loss of a penny, receiving less than one hundredth of one percent for his services, the people of Ohio must exercise sober judgment in their selection to fill such a place of trust.

I had some curiosity as to what manner of man the treasurer of state was, so I dropped into his office in the statehouse to make his acquaintance.

I was surprised to see the changes made in the treasurer's office since Harry S. Day became the banker in charge in January, 1923. The dingy quarters which housed former treasurers have given way to a series of modern banking rooms, equipped with burglar-proof and fireproof vaults.

Yes, Mr. Day was in. I had expected to meet the type of banker that the cartoonists love to picture---heavy gold watchchain, checkered vest, smoking a fat cigar encased in a red and gold corset, etc. Instead, a tall, slender, active man of middle age glanced up from behind a stack of bonds. His every move had a stamp of energy. From the adjoining rooms I could hear the click of adding machines.

"Big job you have, Mr. Day, in handling $150,000,000 a year?" I began. "Not so hard as you might believe," said the treasurer. "I have such an efficient office force that my work is largely that of supervision. Now, take this stack of bonds here---"

He was off. In the next half hour I learned that the state had on June 30th, 1923, at the close of its fiscal year, $82,956,968 in cash and bonds; that it held in securities, as a guarantee of faithful performance of duties by corporations, another $67,154,674.

Among the bonds owned by the state are some $42,000,000 in investments of premiums paid in by employers to the state insurance fund for compensation in case of industrial accidents; over $12,000,000 in bonds of the state teachers' retirement system which insure the school teachers of Ohio a pension upon expiration of their terms of active service. The treasurer's office has paid out over $25,000,000 in adjusted compensation to veterans of the world war.

Policy Holders' Protected

Even the Dayton flood of 1913 meant more work for the treasurer, as bonds in the amount of $34,700,000 which were issued for the construction of the dams and reservoirs that make up the Miami Conservancy District all pass through his office.

Insurance companies doing business in Ohio have deposited with Treasurer Day over $14,000,000 to insure payment to Ohio policy holders.

In 1923, Mr. Day disbursed $22,000,000 for running expenses of the state government, over $12,000,000 for building and upkeep of highways, about $4,000,000 of receipts of the sale of automobile tags, and over $3,000,000, to the weak school districts of the state, a total of over $50,000,000.

In 1910 the state received $155,186 in interest on state funds. In 1923 Treasurer Day placed $23,000,000 of state funds on deposit in about 400 different banks in Ohio, and drove such a sharp bargain that the interest received ran over $1,000,000.

I was chuck full of figures by this time and I rose to go with the remark that I must get home and trim my hedge. This started Mr. Day on his hobby---flowers.

Before Treasurer Day came to Columbus, he conducted the largest nursery in Sandusky County, and what he doesn't know about flowers could be crammed into an oyster shell. He ran his nursery so well that the people of Fremont invited him to run their city, which he did for two or three terms.

In 1922, Mr. Day walked away with the Republican nomination for treasurer in a field of several candidates, and in the subsequent election led the state ticket. His friends say that one good turn deserves another and are asking that he be returned as treasurer of state for another two years at the election to be held on November 4th.

"Earn Your Salt."

When any one earns a salary he is really "earning his salt," for the word salary has a very interesting story. When the Roman governor traveled on his rounds through the provinces which he governed, the people at each stopping place had to provide him with food for his horses and salt for himself. This was his salary---salt being the Latin for salt---or his "salt money."

DONAHEY RAISES STATE EXPENSES $900,000 A YEAR

Democratic Governor Refuses to Take Stump and Explain Why He Boosted Costs.

"WATCHDOG OF TREASURY" LOSES HIS BARK, BITE

Club Woman Scores Donahey For Removing Delaware Girls' School • Head and Restoring Corporal Punishment.

COLUMBUS—Swinging into the final month of his active speaking campaign for the governorship, former Gov. Harry L. Davis, Republican nominee for governor, is renewing his plea that Gov. A. V. Donahey come out from the seclusion of the governor's office and take a little time in which "to explain some of the things I have been asking of him."

Mrs. T. J. Maxwell of Fremont, who is retiring president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion in Ohio, and who has been active in federated club work throughout the state for 20 years, also addressed Davis meetings in several counties.

"Night after night," said Mr. Davis, "I have been asking the governor to come out in the open and explain to the people some of the things to which I have referred, particularly the statement of the state auditor that the cost of running the state is $900,000 a year more now than it was under the Republican administration. Instead of coming out in the open, the governor has had his subordinates issue statements which are only meaningless denials in general. I want the governor to tell the people direct."

Donahey Raises Expenses
"The figures I am giving you regarding the cost of government are not my figures. I am not asking you to take my word or the word of any appointee of mine. These are figures from your elected state auditor who is under bond to give you an accurate account of the state's financial condition."

"The governor cannot throw dust into the eyes of the people in the story of expenses by emphasizing expenditures we made for crippled children, the feeble minded or the restocking of streams with fish. We admit we spent money for these things and are proud of it. Yet with all this, the auditor's figures show we conducted the state's governmental affairs at $900,000 a year less than the present administration that has abandoned all these things that make for a better state."

"True, under this administration, it cost a little less to conduct the governor's mansion than in the preceding administration. While this is a matter of little consequence, it must be remembered that it did not cost the state a dollar to feed the help at the mansion under my administration. The bill I paid out of my salary. Now the state feeds the help there."

Convicts to Go as Servants
"This cost in itself is a small matter but when I return to the governor's mansion, I purpose to return to the state's penal institutions the hardened criminals who are at the mansion and replace them with honest labor. It may be well for the executive to have sympathy for first offenders and youths who have gone wrong because of environment but my sympathy goes first to the person who earns an honest living and makes every effort to become a useful, lawabiding citizen."

"I take some pride in the comparison of my record of pardons with that of the present governor who pardoned 114 hardened criminals in a year and a half as compared with 38 for the two years before he came into office. What about the governor's campaign pledge of two years ago when he said he would 'safeguard the interests of society by keeping incarcerated, as long as possible, hardened criminals?'"

Club Woman Scores Vic
Mrs. Maxwell tells the crowds at the meetings that Gov. Donahey's administration is destroying the progressive work of the Davis administration in state institutions in which women have the deepest interest, particularly in the girls' industrial school at Delaware, where the honor system, installed by Mrs. Mae Stannard, has been discontinued under the Donahey rule and where the paddle has been restored for punishment. Mrs. Maxwell says that she attended the hearings in Mrs. Stannard's case and that 99 per cent of the testimony against Mrs. Stannard was given by subnormal girls whose testimony would never be considered in a court.

Save Old Corn for Use in Emergency

It Is Possible to Secure Seed Supply if Gathered Before Nipped by Frost.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.
Late spring and continuous cool weather, together with the high prices now being paid for corn, may be the combination of circumstances which will cheat the farmer out of his usual supply of seed corn, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Corn is very late as the result of abnormal conditions at planting time and much of it is apt to be caught by frost before it has matured to the stage usually regarded as right for selecting seed. Then too, many farmers had to replant a large acreage last spring, drawing more heavily than they expected on their seed supply. Finally, higher prices for corn this fall have tended to reduce this old-corn source of emergency seed. The department says there is a shortage of old seed and little old corn from which to select it, and suggests further the probability of immature corn this fall from which seed selection will have to be made.

Save Some Old Ears.

Where immature corn is to be expected it is suggested that seed be selected from the 1923 crop. Throw aside a few bushels of the likely looking ears when feeding the corn or otherwise disposing of it in order that seed may be selected from it later, if necessary. The ear test for germination will make available much seed from this old corn which can be used in an emergency.

As a further precaution it is suggested that even though corn is immature, it is possible to obtain seed if it is gathered before a frost and properly handled. Most communities are in touch with the weather reports to such extent that coming frosts may be known somewhat accurately. At the first suggestion of frost, make a selection of new corn for seed. Corn gathered in the milk stage, while not as good as ripe corn for seed, if carefully dried and protected from the frost will germinate under favorable conditions. Satisfactory seed can be selected any time after the corn is in the hard-dough stage. Even if not entirely mature, the use of early selected seed of a strain known to be good will be safer than to buy seed later of unknown adaptation and productiveness.

Features of Selection.

Where it is necessary to gather seed before it has matured in order to save it from destruction by frost, the same features of selection should be observed. Select seed only from normal, vigorous plants, avoid smutted stalks and those that are prematurely dead. The seed should be put in a dry place the same day it is gathered and placed in such a manner that the ears do not touch each other and where there is a free circulation of air but not cold enough to freeze.

The best seed, of course, is that which has matured on the stalk. If frost holds off after immature seed has been selected, a second selection can be made and the immature seed can be used for feed. In this case the only loss will be the labor of gathering and drying it. The precaution of making an early selection is well worth the extra effort. It is a guarantee of some seed at least.

Arrange Official Grain

Standards for Sorghums

An order promulgating official grain standards of the United States for grain sorghums to become effective December 1, 1924, was issued on August 26 by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture issued in 1922 a circular containing grades for grain sorghums which were recommended for use by the grain trade and inspection departments, but were not made official under the grain standards act. Since that time these recommended standards have been adopted by State grain inspection departments as well as by commercial inspection departments and have worked out satisfactorily. Repeated requests have been received by the department that the standards be made official in order that interested parties may have the benefit of supervision and appeal under the act.

In making the standards official no change was made in the grades or requirements as set forth in the recommended grades for the reason that they have been in satisfactory commercial operation for the past two years.

Poisonous Gases Formed in Silos Are Dangerous

That poisonous gases formed in silos overnight while in process of being filled are deadly, is the seasonable warning of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Freshly cut silage in a partially filled silo produces a poisonous gas. If there is no circulation of air this gas remains in considerable volume. Death may result from entering a silo containing this gas.

A precaution recommended by government specialists will avert the danger of entering a gas-filled silo. They advise running the blower of the ensilage cutter for a few minutes before anyone enters the silo.

Air currents stirred up by the blower will dilute the gases sufficiently or drive them from the silo. It is then safe to enter.

Proposing in Siam.
In Siam a declaration of marriage is very simple. It is considered a proposal merely to offer a lady a flower, or to take a light from a cigaret if she is holding it in her mouth, so that even the most timid of youths need not fear the ordeal.

AMUSEMENTS

Tom Meighan's back in a love-crook-melodrama, "The Confidence Man," which had its premiere at the Met yesterday. Its the strongest Meighan has had in many months as well as the most entertaining.

The story, which ran as a serial in Argosy All-Story Weekly, brings the "good luck" star to the screen in the role of a clever confidence man type of crook. He goes to a small town to rope in a miserly old fellow on a fake oil stock deal, gets in right with the people of the village, gets his victim's money and prepares to skip when the "man higher up" arrives from New York.

From this point on the story steps right along. It keeps you guessing what's going to happen next, whether Tom will be exposed or if he'll reform and marry the pretty young girl he has fallen for.

What does he do? That's the question that's being answered at the Met theater. And you're sure in for an hour and a half of peering entertainment when you take in "The Confidence Man."

Virginia Valli, star of "A Lady of Quality," is leading woman, Cyril Ring and Laurence Wheat are prominent in the supporting cast which is typical of all Meighan productions and includes among others, Charles Dow Clark, Jimmie Lapsley, Dorothy Walters and David Higgins.

GET TICKETS

Reservations May be Made Saturday for Minstrel Show.

The chart for the reservation of tickets for the C. A. C. minstrel will be opened at the Grand opera house Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Get in line early as the tickets are selling fast and there will be a demand for choice of seats. For the purpose of equalizing the reservations among the purchasers of seats and preventing any one person securing a large block of desirable seats to cut down the temptation for ticket speculation it has been decided to limit the number of tickets to be reserved by any one person to six. Don't forget the date of the big show, next Monday and Tuesday evenings and buy your tickets at once to be safe.

GRAND OPERA CONCERT.

Mrs. C. W. Imbler and Mrs. Noah Weaver will attend the grand opera concert in Memorial hall this evening in Columbus, under the auspices of the Women's Music club. Madame Frances Alda, prima donna, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company; Merle Alcock, contralto; Armand Takatiau, tenor, and Lawrence Tibbets, baritone, will have leading roles.

Alleviates Earache.

If earache does not occur often possibly home treatment will alleviate the suffering, which is always so severe while it lasts. Wring out hot cloths and apply them to the ear. This often brings quick relief. Or moisten a small piece of cotton, saturated with sweet oil or laudanum and place it carefully in the ear. This is generally efficacious if the trouble is caused by the hardening of the wax.

PROMINENT CITIZEN DIES

Colonel William M. Leiby Passed Away at His Home in Lancaster.

Was a Native of This County and His Friends Were Numbered Only by the Multitude of His Acquaintances—In Dry Goods Business Here.

William M. Leiby, a former resident of this city, died at his home in Lancaster Thursday morning at ten o'clock. He was the last of his family and was an uncle of B. M. Radcliffe, of Williamsport, and a cousin of Charles W. Myers of this city.

Mr. Leiby was born in this county in 1852, and spent the major portion of his life in this city. Deceased and the late Gottlieb Hartmyer were partners in the dry goods business, having purchased the interests of Gregg & Wolfley in 1878. Their store was located at the corner of Main and Scioto streets. Long after moving to Lancaster he invariably visited this city during the Pumpkin Show and gave his friends much pleasure by his kindly greetings.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Alice Work, before her marriage.

The funeral services will be held at his late home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be strictly private. Rev. N. E. Butler, of Columbus, will be the officiating minister. Interment will be made in Forest Rose cemetery Lancaster.

The Lancaster Daily Eagle says: "He was a likable fellow, one who numbered his friends by the thousands and whose enemies were unknown."

"He was not a military man but his title of colonel was earned because of his geniality and good fellowship. An hour in his company was sixty minutes of pleasure and entertainment. It always seemed to us when we were with him that the sun's rays were brighter; the atmosphere was clearer and an exhilarating, joyous feeling mingled with the blood as it raced thru the arteries. He was happy himself and his mission in life was to make others appreciate life."

"He owned one the most beautiful homes in Fairfield county. Just outside the city limits of Lancaster. He sold him farm and several years ago bought and improved a piece of property on North High street where he resided in ease and comfort and made pleasure for a wide acquaintance by his genial companionship, his loving personality and the golden casting of a mind and heart that thought and brought good to everybody."

"He took great interest in religious matters and spent much time in the latter years of his life in upholding and advancing the doctrines of the Christian faith. He was chairman of the building committee and thru his advice and liberality the Methodists of Lancaster were enabled to build a church that is a credit to the architectural beauty of the town."

"His going out this morning was like a peaceful surrender."

"He was a lover of children and almost any day you could see him on the porch of his home surrounded by his little friends. To them he was "Uncle Bill" and into his life they brought considerable joy and happiness."

Senator Frank B. Willis made these assertions in his characteristically emphatic way in a brief interview at his home in Delaware, where he stopped for a little while en route from the West to fill several speaking engagements in New York and New England.

The Senator has been booked by the Republican national committee for two addresses in Boston and another in Manchester, N. H. Then he swings west again for several speeches in Missouri.

MACK PARRETT

COOLIDGE TALKS ON BIG PROBLEM

In Philadelphia Address He
ship of the Railways.

In his recent address in Philadelphia, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the meeting of the first Continental congress, the President, after dwelling in some detail on the course followed by the fathers of the country in that historic gathering, turned his attention to the question, now being agitated in some quarters, of government ownership of the railroads.

President Coolidge in this, one of the few public appearances he has permitted himself during the campaign, declared that it is well known that America's economic problems are far from solved, but that constant progress is being made in the fields of production and distribution. When regulation because of abuses has become necessary, it has been put into effect, President Coolidge pointed out. "The real fact is," he continued, "that in a republic like ours the people are the government, and if they cannot secure perfection in their own economic life it is altogether improbable that the government can secure it for them. The same human nature which presides over private enterprise must be employed, for public action."

Strain on Economic System.

"It is very difficult to reconcile the American ideal of a sovereign people capable of owning and managing their own government with an inability to own and manage their own business. No doubt there are certain municipalities where some public utilities have been managed through public ownership with a creditable success. But this is very different from a proposal that the national government should take over railroads and other public utilities. What a strain this would be to our economic system will be realized when it is remembered that public commissions set the value of such utilities at about $35,000,000,000, and that they have about 2,750,000 employees. Such an undertaking would mean about $1,750,000,000 annually in bond interest, and an operating budget estimated at about $9,000,000,000. These utilities are no longer in the hands of a few, directly or indirectly. They are owned by scores of millions of our inhabitants. It would mean a loss in public revenue estimated at $600,000,000 a year, and while in industrial states it might not increase the tax on the farmer more than 3 per cent or 4 per cent, in many agricultural counties it would run as high as to 40 per cent.

The President, emphasizing his fundamental belief in the principles which dictate private ownership of utilities as a public policy, said:

"I have mentioned the desirability for the people to keep control of their own government and their own property, because I believe that is one of the American ideals for public welfare in harmony with the efforts of the first Continental congress. They objected to small infractions, which would destroy great principles of liberty. Unless we can maintain the integrity of the courts, where the individual can secure his rights, any kind of tyranny may follow. If the people lose control of the arteries of trade and the natural sources of mechanical power, the nationalization of all industry could soon be expected. Our forefathers were alert to resist all encroachments upon their rights. If we wish to maintain our rights, we can do no less. Through the breaking down of the power of the courts lies an easy way to the confiscation of the property and destruction of the liberty of the individual. With railroads and electrical utilities under political control, the domination of a group would be so firmly entrenched in the whole direction of our government that the privilege of citizenship for the rest of the people would consist largely in the payment of taxes."

Protection in the Courts.

Tracing the formation of the Constitution, the President pointed out that not only at home is this document justly revered, but it is the foundation of other republics scattered through the length and breadth of the world.

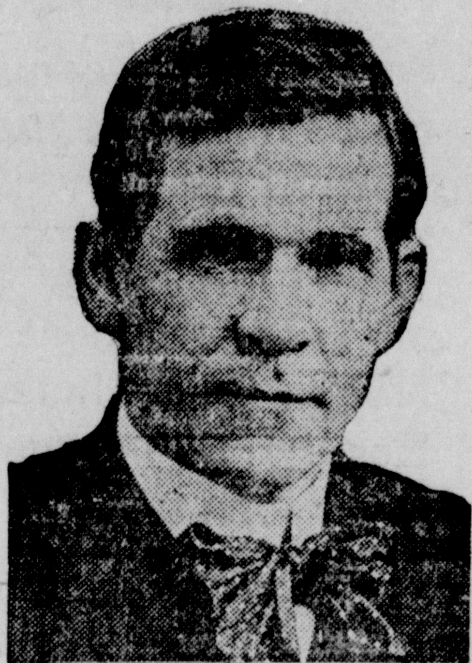

"Ours, as you know, is a government of limited power," President Coolidge pointed out. "The Constitution confers the authority for certain actions upon the President and the congress, and explicitly prohibits them from taking other actions. This is done to protect the rights and liberties of the people. The government is limited, only the people are absolute. Whenever the legislative or executive power undertakes to overstep the bounds of its limitations, any person who is injured may resort to the courts for protection and remedy. We do not submit the precious rights of the people to the hazard of a prejudiced and irresponsible political determination. We do not expose the rights of the weak to the danger of being overcome in the public forum by popular uproar, but protect them in the sanctity of the courtroom, where the still, small voice will not fail to be heard. Any attempt to change this method of procedure is an attempt to put the people again in jeopardy of the impositions and the tyrannies from which the first Continental congress sought to deliver them."

STRICKLAND GILLILAN

"Off Agin, On Agin, Gone Agin, Finagin" placed Strickland Gillilan, many years ago, in the front rank of America's favorite humorists. Since then his continually successful platform appearances, as well as numerous published poems and magazine sketches, have kept him firmly entrenched in the hearts of American audiences.

Strickland Gillilan manufactures his own material and is constantly originating new jokes, stories and poems. Recently in one year he had twice as many poems in the Ladies' Home Journal as any other contributor. He is a regular writer for many other notable periodicals.

Not long ago Mr. Gillilan received a splendid tribute in the editorial columns of the Ohio State Journal, part of which follows: "Strickland Gill-lan favored the Young Men's Business club with one of his happy addresses. He changed the serious, practical business visage of the club into a broad smile, and the indications are that the smile will keep up for days. It is a good thing to get out of the underbrush of business into the big prairie of humor, where the sun shines, the blue sky pleases and the soft, pure air fondles the soul. There is where Mr. Gillilan takes one."

If humor means only smiles you lose by going to hear Strickland Gillilan, but if humor means awakening and directing your love, your pity, your kindness, your scorn for untruth, pretension and imposture, your tenderness for the weak, the poor, the oppressed, the unhappy, then you gain by hearing this lecture.

Avoid Unprofitable Moods.

Angry moods and "grouches" and their twin sisters, "grudges," serve absolutely no purpose. If some one hurts or wounds us generously forget it. Time heals the deepest cuts and makes us braver and wiser for the experience. Let us love life and its worthwhile things and avoid all unprofitable moods. Otherwise happiness will never come our way, and if we search for it, it will flee from us like a phantom, for after all it is the state of our mind.

BLACKMAIL PLUNDED

McNamara, Labor Leader, Indicted on Four Charges.

Indianapolis, Oct. 10.—John J. McNamara, a leader in the labor war which culminated in the bombing of the Los Angeles Times and a dozen other dynamite outages 14 years ago, was indicted by the Marion county grand jury on four charges of blackmail. McNamara, according to indictments, threatened Fred Junglaus, contractor of the new Elks' building here, in an effort to force him to use iron workers in installing window frames in the building. Five weeks after the alleged attempted blackmail, vandals entered the building and did $10,000 damage to window frames and doors, which had been installed by members of the carpenters' union.

Oppose City Wage Scale.

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—An injunction suit to restrain the city council from paying the new wage scale for union labor employed by the city, authorized by the council this week, will be filed soon in a taxpayer's name. Foremost in the fight are the chamber of commerce, the Cleveland real estate board and building owners and managers.

St. Paul Wins.

St. Paul, Oct. 10.—Baltimore was defeated, 5 to 2, by St. Paul yesterday in the fifth game of the little world series. The result gave St. Paul, American association title winners, two victories, and the International league champions three wins in the five games played. Five victories decide the series.

Teachers to Meet.

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—At least 10,000 school teachers will convene in public hall Oct. 24 for the annual fall meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' association. Speakers will include Norman Angell, author of "The Great Illusion," Eric C. Woodward, editor of the Plain Dealer; Dr. E. E. Slosson, Washington, and Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president.

Davis to Speak In Ohio.

New York, Oct. 10.—More confident than ever that he will be victorious at the polls in November, John W. Davis returned from his three-day speaking trip through New York to prepare for a new invasion of the west. The Democratic candidate left today for a swing that will carry him through Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio.

Three Suspects Held.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Three negroes, former employees of the Rock Island Coal company, were arrested in connection with the shooting at the company's mine at Meriden in which Lee J. Sandridge, general manager and vice president of the company, and three of his assistants were wounded from ambush. The mine officials are expected to recover.

Three Children Run Down.

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—Angelina Comelipa, 8, and her brother, Frank, 11, were struck by a small truck, which did not stop. Both children lay in the road until discovered by another driver. Frank's injuries are said to be serious, but he will recover. Another victim of a motorist who did not stop was John Markulin, 8, whose skull was fractured by a touring car.

Eighteen Mexican soldiers, who were acting as guards on the passenger train running between Jalapa and Teocelo, Vera Cruz, Mexico, were killed by rebels, who robbed the train.

THE IRENE STOLOFSKY COMPANY

Irene Stolfofsky, violinist, has been proclaimed one of the real musical sensations of the present generation. Less than ten years ago this Chicago violinist, of Polish descent, made a professional debut that brought enthusiastic comments from metropolitan critics. Today she has thousands of devotees who declare that she has no superior among the women violinists of America.

Miss Stolfofsky is capable of giving not only the great sonatas and concertos, but also is gifted in the present.

entation of the smaller and frequently the more popular numbers. As one newspaper critic remarked: "Classical music is played deftly by Miss Stolfofsky, but it is when, in encores, she gives the old familiar numbers that she steals into the inner recesses of one's soul."

On her concert tour during the coming season Miss Stolfofsky is to be ably supported by John Shenk, baritone, and Miss Magdalen Massmann, a notable piano soloist and accompanist.

BOXING BOUTS

Kirk Galloway Won on a Foul—Other Events Very Interesting.

Thursday night sure was one luck evening for Kirk Galloway of Columbus, for the Shifty Dandoe, of Portsmouth, had the best of the fight all the way thru, the former was declared the winner.

The decision came in the second round after one minute of fighting. Dandoe had knocked Galloway to the floor and it looked as tho he was sure to go out for the count. When in attempting to rise from the floor, Referee Mahoney claimed that Dandoe fouled Galloway and immediately gave the decision to the Columbus boy.

There is no doubt that if the bout was permitted to continue, Dandoe would have easily won by the knock-out route.

The crowd was loud in their disapproval of Referee Mahoney's decision. The semi-final bout between Rip Valentine, of Portsmouth, and Bill Garrison of Columbus, lasted the entire six rounds. Garrison was a very cool, clean fighter and had the advantage of both weight and reach on Valentine.

In the first two rounds it looked as tho it would be an easy fight for Bill, but Rip came back strong in the fourth round. In the fifth and sixth rounds Bill Garrison put out plenty of punishment and showed himself to be the best fighter. Rip was a clean fighter, but lacked the main thing, power. Garrison won the decision.

The best fight of the evening was between Red Wise, of Portsmouth and K. O. Brown, of Columbus. This was Red's fifth fight but will not be the last for he undoubtedly will be heard from later.

The fight started out with a rush and plenty action and continued throughout the entire four rounds. The bell saved K. O. Brown in the second, but he came back fighting in the third. The fourth round saw plenty of fighting with the fast Red Wise as the master. The decision went to Red Wise amid the cheers of the crowd.

The opener between Earl Simms, of Nelsonville, and Jack Fisher, of Portsmouth, was a good bout. Fisher had the advantage of reach and weight, while Simms was the most experienced fighter. The bout ended in a draw. All in all, it was a good card and should have drawn a larger crowd.

REV. S. C. ELSEA

Will Serve Churches in Vicinity of Circleville—Headquarters

Rev. S. C. Elsea, who has been our New Holland and Atlanta Methodist Episcopal pastor for the last year, as successor to Rev. C. L. Thomas, and was assigned here at the last Ohio annual conference session, is to move to Circleville soon.

At his own request, he has been changed to a new charge consisting of several churches, some distance away which he will serve with his headquarters in Circleville where he will reside. Later he will live on his own property, a thirty acre tract on the brick road in the north end of Circleville, just a little north of the Circleville cemetery and on the same side of the street.

His successor, Rev. Charles G. Fulkerson, who after Rev. Elsea's request for a change, was secured by District Superintendent Arthur P. Cherrington to supply the New Holland and Atlanta pulpits for the last two Sundays was appointed as the pastor by the district superintendent, representing Bishop Henderson, Sunday afternoon, after a conference with the New Holland Leader.

service were publicly invited to come to such a conference and after a second conference with an official committee representing both the New Holland and Atlanta churches.—New Holland Leader.
